ATTENDANCE

- Online instruction differs fundamentally from traditional classroom instruction in that the student may access the online resources at times that are convenient to the student's personal schedule within a range of times defined by the instructor. However, consistent attendance is required to successfully complete an online course. A student participating in a provided online course will be allowed two (2) absences. Upon the third absence, the student will be cut by the instructor and will receive an F for the course unless a proper Withdrawal form is completed during the approved withdrawal period.

Attendance will be monitored by timely submission of assignments, including test, homework, projects, etc. A student is expected to complete all assignments by the appropriate due date. Failure to complete such assignments by the due date will be cut from the course barring any extenuating circumstance.

It is understandable that extenuating circumstances occur, such as an extreme illness, death in the immediate family, legal matters, or military duty. It is the student's responsibility to provide appropriate documentation in a timely manner (prior to the due date if all possible) to substantiate such circumstances. At which time the instructor will determine if an extension is warranted. Students and instructors of online courses will adhere to the academic calendar and the process of appeal.

Circumstances that are NOT considered extenuating:

- Failure to read the syllabus
- Failure to plan appropriately
- Not having the appropriate textbook or software
- Technical problems

ACADEMIC HONESTY

Academic honesty is a fundamental attribute of higher learning. Students who violate the principle of honesty deny themselves an opportunity to master the skills that they are credited to possess, cheat their classmates of deserved recognition, and demean the college and its degrees. It is a matter of great concern that all members of the college community strive for high standards of personal integrity.

Evaluation of each student's level of knowledge and understanding is a vital part of the teaching process, and requires tangible measures such as reports, examinations, and homework. Any act that interferes with the process of evaluation by misrepresenting the relationship between the work being evaluated and the student's actual state of knowledge is an act of academic dishonesty. These acts of dishonesty include but are not limited to: fraud, cheating, plagiarism, forgery, and facilitating dishonesty. (Definitions found in the Northeast Procedures Manual).

A hallmark of any profession is integrity and honesty. Academic honesty is expected of all students; therefore, each student is expected to accomplish his/her own work.

When academic misconduct has occurred, the instructor has the responsibility of assigning an appropriate penalty in accordance with the instructor's institutional policy. This may include failure of the assignment, failure of the course, or dismissal from the institution.

TESTING

Unit Tests will be not be proctored. The mid term and final exam will be proctored.
